First Calgary Horse Show and Rodeo

May Develop Into Exciting Yearly Event

Not since the days of 1919 when the late "Strawberry Red" Woll used to ride the famous Strawberry Roan bucking horse in the old Victoria Arena have Stampede and Rodeo fans been given an opportunity to see Rodeo action at close range. The opportunity is being presented this year with the staging of the Horse Show and Rodeo in the spacious Stampede Corral.

Dyed-in-the-wool horse show exhibitors of the old school were somewhat shocked at first when it was announced that the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Ltd. had decided to incorporate Rodeo events with a Class A horse show program. However, when it became evident that the inclusion of Rodeo events would increase public interest in both horse show and rodeo, they became enthusiastic supporters of the idea, and "flat saddle" and "stock" saddle exhibitors have been co-operating closely to present a stirring and fast moving program.

While this is the first time so far as Calgary is concerned that horse show and rodeo events have been incorporated into a program staged indoors, the idea is not new by any means. At San Francisco, Denver and Fort Worth, to mention a few, this plan has been successfully carried out over a period of years. The double program has found ready acceptance on the part of the general public and in the United States centres, capacity audiences have been the order of the day.

There is no reason to believe, therefore, that general acceptance will not be evident at the Calgary Horse Show and Rodeo being staged in the magnificent Corral during the week of October 5 to October 10.

It should also be pointed out that the inclusion of the four major rodeo events was not made at the expense of the horse show classification. As a matter of fact, a glance at the program will show that the horse show classification has been broadened to include a number of new classes involving various new types and breeds of horses, so all in all, a very interesting program should result.

Calgary has long been recognized as the cradle of Western Canada's light horse breeding industry. More light horses of all breeds are raised in the Calgary district than at any other point in Canada and the statistics are there to prove this point.

It is fitting therefore that Canada's biggest horse show, outside of the internationally famous "Toronto Royal" should be held right here in Calgary and under conditions which cannot be excelled for exhibitor and spectator alike.

In presenting this dual type of program, the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Ltd. also wishes to acknowledge the fine support and co-operation received from the Canadian Cowboy's Protective Association. Officials and members recognize the introduction of major rodeo events as part of the horse show program as being in the nature of an experiment, and they promise to have some of their finest riders and ropers available for the contests.

If you enjoy this show, be sure to tell your friends. Increased patronage will spur all concerned to further efforts and if the show "goes over" with the public, it will pave the way for even greater efforts in the future.

All breeds and types of horses on review at horse show and rodeo

Like football and hockey, sport connected with horses has its special terms, expressions and technicalities. The height of a horse is measured in hands and inches. A hand is four inches. The figure 15.2 after a horse's name in the catalogue means it is 15 hands and 2 inches high. The measurement is taken from the ground in a perpendicular line to the withers which is where the shoulder and neck join the body. Ponies do not exceed 14.2.

A horse does most of its growing in the first three years but usually does not reach full stature until about six years old, and in the case of a light breeds can grow to be over 17 hands—the heavy breeds even taller. The age of a horse is indicated by technicalities of its teeth.

After a horse has reached the age of nine it is ferferred to as “aged.” The normal working age of a horse is about 17 to 20 years, although history reports horses lived to 64. A 15 hands, lightly built animal will weight about 1,000 pounds and a heavy draft horse perhaps over a ton. Horses may be gray, dun or roan, bay or brown, black, or chestnut.

Subject to the odd exception or throwback, if two chestnuts are mated, they produce only a chestnut; two roans can produce any of the other colors but a gray; a gray must have at least one gray parent. The gray end of the list is “dominant” and the chestnut end is “recessive.”

Hadacol, one of the west's best known timber toppers with owner Mrs. Lil Williamson of Regina. Both will represent Regina in the $3,000 McMahon International Inter-City team jump at the Horse Show and Rodeo.

A horse cannot product a more dominant colour than its own. Chestnut is not the colour of a horse-chestnut; the horse of that colour is a bay horse. A chestnut varies from liver coloured to golden. Black and white horses are known as piebalds, and brown and white as skewbalds—both have been referred to as pintos. The term "Thoroughbred" is often used erroneously when "pure bred" is the correct term, e.g., as applied to say hackneys or clydesdales.

The thoroughbred is one particular breed of horse usually associated primarily with racing. In English a thoroughbred is a horse whose sire and dam both trace to ancestors in the first general stud book published in 1791. In the U.S.A. they have their own stud boow founded later than that date, and in Canada we follow the U.S.A. regulations.

Now to look to particular divisions of the show —

Roadsters

These are horses developed to get you where you are going quickly—to travel long distances at speed. The foundation sire was Messenger foaled in 1780 and imported from England to U.S.A. in 1788. They may be trotters or pacers. Action should be free, easy and straight. It is essential to produce speed when called for, provided form is not sacrificed. Style and appearance involve conformation and manners.

Three-Gaited Saddle Horses

These should walk, trot and canter true, leading with either the near or off foreleg. The walk should be true, flat-footed, rapid and elastic. The trot square, collected and balanced, and free from hackney form; the canter smooth, slow and straight. They should carry the weight balanced on all four legs and show a light mouth with head moderately high, neck arched and face at sixty degrees to the ground.

Five-Gaited Saddle Horses

In addition to the usual three gaits (walk, trot and canter) these horses are shown at a slow gait called the fox-trot or running walk, and the rack which may be described as the fox-trot at an

Each year more horsepower is being added to the "Stables" of Calgary Power Ltd. The present generating capacity of both hydro and steam generation is 485,450 H.P. Additions to the Spray and Rundle Plants now underway will add 102,000 H.P. by the Autumn of 1960. A third unit of 200,000 H.P. will be added to Wabamun Steam Plant by 1962 and the Big Bend site on the Brazeau will provide another 200,000 H.P. by 1963.

accelerated speed, but free from any inclination to pace and with no sacrifice of form. These two gaits have a smooth, rhythmic motion that allows the rider to sit in the saddle. The beauty of the horses is enhanced by flowing manes, high head carriage and full length tails. These horses were developed by the plantation owners of the South and the foundation sire was Denmark (1839). Brilliance and animation or show-ring personality count a great deal.

Harness Ponies with Long Mane and Tail

For the purpose of this Show, consist of two types of ponies. Those under 44 inches are known as Shetlands and those between 44 inches and 50 inches in height are a type which has been developed to secure greater action, similar to that of the hackney pony. In effect, these ponies are miniature fine harness horses. Both of the types shown in this division are suitable for either children or adults.

Hunters

A hunter may be any breed but very often one, or in the case of show hunters, quite often both parents will be thoroughbred.

It is a horse suitable for fox hunting. The various classes prescribe the weight the horse must appear to be able to carry and the marks to be awarded for conformation (the way the horse is made), for performance over the jumps and for the way of going, i.e., sensible, does not pull, is easily controlled, strides along easily and tirelessly, keeps eyes and mind on the jumps, jumps uniformly and does not either get too close to nor take off too far from the jumps, and is not sticky at its jumps.

What is wanted as regards conformation is an intelligent head with good eyes, a long well shaped neck, sloping shoulders with withers set well back, deep and broad chest, big forearms and gaskins in hind legs, strong, well coupled back, broad in the breechin, ribs well spread, strong, straight legs with strong pasterns of medium length and entering the hoofs at a good slope, being neither too straight nor too low, clear, hard, non-fleshy hocks, good clean, sound tendons, well shaped hoofs and sound texture, and good size.

Lastly, the animal should be free from unsoundness and from defects in conformation which might diminish its capacity for hard and rapid work. In Canada, most hunters are a cross between a draft and a thoroughbred or standard bred in which size and strength are contributed by the draft horse and refinement and stamina by the thoroughbred or standardbred.

In Canada the Canadian Hunter and Light Horse Improvement Society studies the problems of cross breeding and registers suitable breeding stock and is creating a new and separate pure hunter breed.

Jumpers

These horses are judged on performances only. In fact, they are not judged but scored mathematically for their faults. The jumper is no particular breed and may be any shape, size or colour. Style of going and of jumping is not taken into account. Actual faults at the obstacle are all that count.

Palominos

This horse with the coat of gold is a relic of antiquity. Today approved horses are recognized as a breed in Canada under the Live Stock Pedigree Act. The bridle path type and stock horse type are the two most desired. Individuals should stand from fifteen to sixteen two hands and weigh from 950 to about 1,200 pounds. They must be free movers at the walk, trot and canter. Mane and tail must be uncut and free flowing with no tail setting permitted. Mostly shown under Western tack, the stock horse type is popular on ranches in Western Canada and the bridle path type is sought for pleasure throughout the whole of Canada.

Arabian Horses

The breed is the oldest and most beautiful in the world; has had more influence on other breeds than any. The Arabian can do anything any other light horse or pony can do. Unequaled qualifications: beauty, courage, intelligence, bearing, sweet temper (having never been abused), stamina, endurance, soundness in wind and limb, perfect feet, clean action; unique head. Must be shown with natural tail and feet; never stretched. Most of the males are stallions; often ridden by children.

The Appaloosa

The name is derived from a breed said to have been developed by the Nez Perce Indians of the Palouse country of Idaho and eastern Washington, hence the name "a palouse." Some authorities claim the breed is the development of American-bred Moroccan Barbs first brought to this continent from Spanish Andalusia.

Cutting Horses

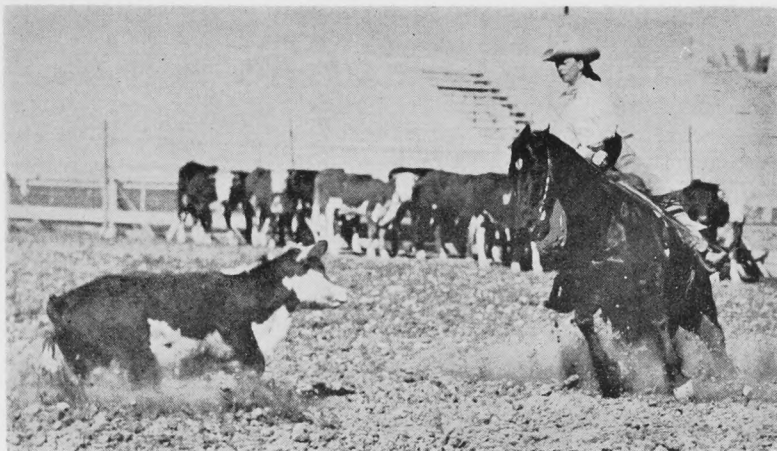

The Cutting Horse is a working stock horse with a high economic value. He can earn his keep at home and then go to a contest and put on a splendid and entertaining performance to the spectator by presenting a colorful picture of range work at its best. Performance, regardless of color, sex or breed, is the sole guide to his value; that is, the ability to enter a herd of cattle, cut an animal out of the herd for shipment to market, doctoring or moving to another pasture; and prevent this animal from returning to the herd.

Cow sense in its highest degree is shown as this horse anticipates every movement of the animal and does his own thinking and acting with little help from the rider. A Cutting Horse is particularly judged on his natural ability as he works with a loose rein and maintains the proper balance to be able to move in any direction quickly. Quite often a Cutting Horse has to block an animal that has made up his mind to return to the herd. When this happens these horses do a creditable job at close quarters.

Plenty of ranch experience is the background for the development of the good judgment necessary for the Cutting Horse to out-manoeuvre the animal being cut out without disturbing the herd. As the Cutting Horse stops and turns to counter every move made by the animal being cut out, he well rewards his rider's confidence by seldom making a mistake.

Hacks

Entries in the Hack division are usually represented by Thoroughbreds and half-breeds. They are known as riding horses rather than saddle horses, to distinguish them from the gaited horses. They have a smooth walk, trot and canter and majority carry full manes and tails. Many champion hacks have been raised in this district.

Reflection on Prices . . .

HIGH PRICES are what you pay for what you buy. LOW PRICES are what you get for what you sell. FAIR PRICES are the charges made at the McARA Printing Plant. If you have been under the impression that your printing was of a nature which could not be done satisfactorily in Western Canada, there is a pleasant surprise coming to you as soon as you get acquainted with McARA SERVICE . . .

Like the skilled saddlemaker whose craftsmanship makes ordinary leather become a work of rare beauty, so the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company Limited has diligently perfected the art of beverage making over these past 67 years. So it is today — as it was in the days when the West was young — that trails end more pleasantly, more companionably, when you hang your saddle where the refreshment is "Calgary".
